

Dressing for the weather makes life a lot better

If you plan to be active outdoors this winter, shoveling snow, hiking, walking the dog, sledding or skating, dress in layers. When you are active, your body generates heat. Layers give you the flexibility to adjust your body temperature by removing or adding layers.